

Haves Cards

To begin, distribute these cards to the students representing the character typed in bold on the card. Most characters will get several cards. Characters receiving Haves Cards will provide these cards to other characters who request them during the activity, as long as the trading conditions (as described in italics) are first met. Haves Cards are exchanged simply through one character asking another. No direct trading is required. The first card in the set of Haves Cards below is a sample.
